

No job is too big or too small for Auckland-based Pallet Racking Solutions Ltd – a leader in pallet racking, shelving design, supply, council consenting and installation solutions across New Zealand since 2010. Supported by a new 4x2 FUSO Fighter FK1425, the challenge of transporting a broad range of product has been made easy work.

From wall-to-wall, floor-to-ceiling warehouse pallet racking to small-scale retail storage, PRS caters for a wide market.

“Anything in the pallet racking or shelving space, we’ve got it covered,” says sales director Antony Straka.

Needing a better transport solution for its broad product line than was available in its existing fleet –and wanting a more professional look into the bargain – PRS invested in a new FUSO Fighter FK1425.

With an eye-catching livery, the 13.5T curtainsider delivers all over the North Island and has been a welcome addition to the business.

“This truck is the perfect size for our deliveries, be it frames, beams, or industrial shelving,” says Antony.

The 184kW / 761Nm turbocharged diesel engine also makes light work of any heavy lifting that might be required.

“Some of our racking systems comprise of reasonably heavy components, but this truck has the power and weight capacity to get any product where it needs to be.”

Antony says PRS’ dedicated driver Billy Perham is “100% happy with the driveability and comfort of his new ‘office’.”

Fulfilling the philosophy of ‘Everything, In Its Place’, the new Fighter has fitted seamlessly into PRS’ operations and is enabling the company to deliver on that promise to its customers.

“We have 100% confidence in this truck to perform how we need it to, maintaining a reliable and professional service for years to come.”
