

DELIVERING BETTER.

It's been a fruitful couple of months for greengrocers Andrew and David Young, co-owners of Porirua-based City Green. Freshly relocated and growing from strength-to-strength, the brothers' latest business upgrade is in the form of a brand new 6x2 FUSO Fighter FU1828.

"We upgraded to the larger 6x2 Fighter from our previous 4x2 (FK1025), because we needed something that could carry more load," says Andrew. "The new truck is more powerful [207kW versus 184kW] and great to drive. The double axle on the back gives excellent stability on the road."

Fitted with a 14-pallet Astrolite Motorbodies curtainsider with Anteco tail lift, the Fighter pulls up to 15T loads of fruit and vegetables twice a day, with 20% of the stock coming from the family plot and the rest from local distributors.

Operating mostly from their store and occasionally retailing at markets in the Wellington region, David expects the Fighter to do around 30,000km a year.

"It's been pretty economical so far. We don't often have to venture too far out from Porirua, since all of our distributors are so close," he says.

With a fresh new Fighter delivering their five a day, and then some, plus ongoing support just a stone's throw away [at FUSO parts and service dealership Diesel and Equipment Services], Andrew and David can focus on continuing to grow their business.
